

Beyond rhetoric

Delivering a low carbon society

The Institution of Civil Engineers Brunel Lecture Series
Presented by Keith Clarke CBE,
Chairman, Middle East and Director of Sustainability, Atkins

Thursday 12 April 2012

17h45 for 18h00 start

Finish around 20h00 with questions

Hillman Building Room 112
University of the Witwatersrand
Hillman, Yale Road, Jo'burg (Map will be available on www.ice-sa.org.za)

The lecture will address what the engineers of today can learn from Telford, Watt, Brunel and the like that can help us build a low carbon society. Keith Clarke CBE will consider the inspirational leadership of engineers of the past, the context that was needed for change to occur and how knowledge was transferred and shared nationally and internationally. He will consider what steps the engineering profession needs to take to implement a low carbon society.